Coast Quota Club awarded two medals

Miller

Vicki Miller, president of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter of Quota International, was chosen as the official flag bearer in the opening ceremonies of the organization's recent international convention in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

Miller accepted two Quota medals, for membership growth and development, on behalf of her club, an award bestowed on only two chapters throughout the world. In addition, she was recognized as her club's Volunteer of the Year.

Miller's marketing company, Eagle2 Creative Services, produced a Quota recruitment video that received a standing ovation and will now serve as the international recruiting tool for the organization.

The convention focused on service, professional development and fellowship; more than 315 Quotarians from 14 countries attended. Quota's mission is to assist disadvantaged women and children as well as the speech-impaired and the hard of hearing.
